Charge Statement

The University of Washington’s Title IX Steering Committee has recommended to executive leadership that training focused on the prevention of and response to sexual violence, sexual harassment, gender harassment, and other sexual misconduct be required for every member of the University community. The Title IX Training & Education Working Committee is thus charged to develop and facilitate the implementation of curricula for employees and students at all campuses and locations of the University. The content of the training should align with the core concepts, delivery methods, and timeframes as detailed in the December 2018 Report of the Title IX Education and Outreach Work Group. The Working Committee is specifically charged to:

1. Develop employee and student Level 1 curricula
2. Develop employee and student Level 2 curricula
3. Identify and consult with key University stakeholders and groups in developing training content
4. Utilize focus groups and user testing to refine and finalize pedagogical methods and curriculum
5. Identify strategies for assessing the effectiveness of each curriculum
6. Prepare a detailed proposal for delivering the in-person content to both employees and students; proposal should include staffing models and identify resource needs

Online Curriculum
